

BOARD BIO

KEITH SHERBURN

Hello! I moved to the Black Hills area in 2017, and became a Member-Owner of the Breadroot Co-op shortly thereafter. Breadroot was my first experience with a co-op, and I was immediately struck by the warmth of the staff, the wide selection of quality, health, and often local products, and the connection to the community. Breadroot encapsulated the vision of the world I want to live in. Needless to say, I was hooked. Over the years, my desire to give back to the Co-op and the community at large has grown. After first considering the opportunity to run for the Co-op's Board of Directors last year, I opted to throw my hat in the ring this year. I'm incredibly grateful to have been chosen by my fellow Member-Owners to serve on the board, and I look forward to supporting further growth of the Co-op and connection with the Rapid City and broader Black Hills community throughout my term.

Outside of the Co-op, I enjoy spending time with my wife and our two kitties, all of whom are born and raised in Piedmont. Beyond that, you can frequently find me running or hiking along the numerous trails in the area or on the yoga mat.
